Since mid-June all my sites are translated in English

It is important to me to appeal to a wide audience, so that the few may find that want to share my visions and living it with me.

With the help of Google's translator toolkit and the dict.cc dictionary I have, therefore, as well as possible, translated my webpages. For the linguistic nuances, I ask for help and suggestions for improvement.

Under the heading "texts" provided large text excerpts to me are not of the same priority, but in time I will translate them also in English.

Who am I? Where am I from? Why am I here? Where do I go?

These are the central basic questions of human existence, they implicitly put the question of God. Currently I am through my material circumstances challenged in massive form, to give my personal answer to these questions in a new to be created lifeform.

I would be all the more delighted to work with good friends on a common lifeform, which allows all people to fulfill the common need for Love, Harmony and Recognition.

If you found "by chance" this information, I ask you not to hesitate, and accept my gift, I present to you my time for a free preliminary, a personal encounter, an exchange of views, an informative meeting.

With friendly greetings

Peter Todesco
